Notes:

Isaiah responded to the this question on the hay distribution he told the community that he gave all information to members of the community since January 2022 and gave information at all Permittee Meetings that he had the Chapter and the administration did all they could to give out information such as Facebook, Newspaper, Gallup Independent, Navajo Times and all Radio Stations and during all chapter meetings so he ask please be mindful of information given by the chapter, but grain is available as of now and it has been in the Barn now for a little more than a few weeks and so as far as the chapter staff and himself there is no tears in the bags as of now but there is a cat there but again he needs to distribute soon. Now to open the application process would need to keep a watchful eye so it does not get contaminated and the bags do not tear.

Rodriguez Morris – He is very thankful for what the Grazing Official is doing and for his community and the hardwork thus far and so he is in support of this reopening of applications.

Shirleen Joe – Yes I missed the application deadline however she would like to reopen the application process

Doris Tsosie – She has attended all permittee meetings wherever they were held at and heard of the AIF back in December 2021 and has always been updated on it she has also call the grazing officer and kept inform of the application and also supports our Grazing Official he is doing a great job.

Lois Becenti – why is everyone complaining we should all be thankful but always complaining. These are highlights of the discussion the tape and recording is hereby attached.
